This Seminar is designed to bring together the international community of scientists interested in recent developments in all branches of ferroelastics investigations. The scope of the Seminar will be similar to that of the preceding seminar ISFP-9(14) in Voronezh (2018) and will cover all aspects of processing, structure, properties and applications of ferroelastic crystals.

Topics

1. Phase transitions, lattice dynamics and soft modes
2. Structure and crystal growth
3. Domains, domain boundaries and their dynamics
4. Mechanical and acoustic properties
5. Optical properties
6. Superionic conductivity
7. Ferroelasticity and superconductivity
8. Heterogeneous, glassy and incommensurate systems
9. Nanometer structures
10. Multiferroics
11. Applications

Reports can be presented in the following forms:
